About us

We've been designing, engineering and manufacturing in the industry for over thirty years. Now, as Engineering Eden, we've taken all our experience and joined forces with the global brand: Fiat Professional.

As a combined operation, we know better than most that innovation, performance and reliability are the holy trinity when it comes to any machine. Which is why we've engineered our entire range of garden machinery to achieve all three.

And it doesn't stop there.

With a new eye on the industry, we saw no reason why functional garden machines couldn't look as good as they work. So, we also designed them to be beautiful.

Finally, there's our commitment to sustainability, with a production process that makes more clean energy from solar than it uses. Welcome to a new era in gardening technology.

Product range

From light and agile machines that don't compromise on performance to powerful ride-ons that get huge jobs done in a flash, whatever the size or scope of your garden or project, we've got you covered.
